

Lisa Rinna

 Former Melrose Place starlet Lisa looks like she's still hanging onto her crown as Hollywood's reigning trout-pout queen, despite openly admitting that she's taken things too far.

"I saw a picture of myself and thought, 'Uh-oh,'" she said. "You have to be careful."

Later she added, "I learned less is more. Looking fresher is one thing. I look like a freak!"

But even though she says she's aware she might have overdone the lip plumping, it seems from the photo on the left, taken at the Golden Globes on January 12, that Lisa just can't help herself.

Jordan

Fergie

 The subject of plastic surgery rumours since she first broke into the big time, Fergie has always kept her lips sealed on whether or not she's turned to the needle, instead claiming it's all down to some creative make-up tricks.

"I was totally into the chola lip line," says Fergie, referring to the style of LA's Latina gang girls. "Nowadays, I'll do that only for the stage. I realize that my lips look beautiful naturally."

But NW's expert says that while the work is subtle, it's likely the singer's had a little help. "She does appear to have had a lip filler," says Sydney plastic surgeon Dr Mark Kobout. "Her upper lip has a rim around it, a sign of a filler."

Paris Hilton

