

 Peter Andre is starting to reconsider plans to move his family to LA since his wife Jordan started showing signs she may be addicted to plastic surgery.

The "glamour model" recently had more cosmetic work done in a bid to emulate actress Angelina Jolie. "She's obsessed with Angelina's lips," says a source.

But despite her efforts, hubby Pete is said to have gone right off her increasingly waven face.

"He hates her having surgery, but it doesn't stop her," says the source. "She ... is always desperate to improve [her looks]. She has regular face fillers and Botox and says, 'I'll have it forever. I always want a young face.'"

Keira Knightley

 Keira caused quite a stir when she admitted to cosmetic enhancement after she was spotted leaving a plastic surgeon's practice. "Okay, I had it done," the actress said. "I had a larger top lip done."

But then she did a bizarre about-face and denied it.

"I haven't had my lips done," said Keira. "Can I just say that?"

With the actress clearly unable to make up her mind as to whether or not she's indulged in a little plumping, NW asked Dr Kohout to offer his opinion.

"It does appear that Keira Knightley has had a lip augmentation," he confirms. "Hopefully it's a non-permanent, because she has had too much filler injected into her lips."

 After searching high and low for her new BFF, Paris seems to have found her new perfect match - collagen!

Experts agree that despite saying she loves "being all-natural," Paris has finally buckled under plastic peer pressure and had lip surgery.

"Paris appears to have had a lip filler," confirms Dr Mark Kohout.

Beverly Hills plastic surgeon Dr Payman Simoni agrees. "One tell-tale sign is the white shine at the borders of her upper lip which is usually achieved by [using the fillers] Juvaderm or Restylane," he says.
