In which people with good stories get revamped for nothing

And so to “ordinary people pursuing their dreams of having better looks”—Australia’s answer to Extreme Makeover. The beauty of this version is that it’s a quick fix, with two out of three participants getting their heart’s desire within half an hour. The third is Steve Castiglioni, whose weight loss was so dramatic that his body is draped in spare flesh. Think a body like an Austrian blind.

Steve is the long-term project, but Susie Baker, who wants to look good for her new, Brady Bunch family, goes from oh! to wow! in the blink of an eye. She has some gruesome procedures, including having “dissolvable screws” in her head, but at least the erkier bits are demonstrated on a model.

The masterstroke comes with Claudette, a nun with the Sisters of Charity for the past 42 years. “Our nun, Claudette,” as purring narrator Hugh Wade calls her, has damaged her skin through years of missionary work.
